

Sunset

The warm sun is a magnificent, circular fireball partially cloaked by the hanging clouds. It casts an ocre haze over the horizon, just like lighting the sky above in a ring of dazzling flames.

Seductive, smoky colors of pinks, reds and even purples and blues are splashed onto the canvas of the sky. It radiates brightly and vibrantly, yet soothingly and peacefully. Strokes of warm colour remind me of the soft, pliable and supple skin of a perfectly ripened peach. The mountains are overwhelmed by the beaming colours of the sky, they appear like black lions staring over the glorious desert.

The sun's shining face, one of the elements of the sky, is mirrored by shimmering blue waves. The tranquil and crystal-clear water sparkles like glimmering diamonds. This scene is mesmerizing, like a masterpiece created by Van Gogh.
